

Central Coast Property Market — June 2026: Insight Analysis

Prepared by See-Change Solutions | Source: REA Group data, manually extracted

72 suburbs tracked | Date: July 2026

Executive Summary

The Central Coast market remains broadly resilient, with a median house price of $1.15M and average YoY house growth of +5.6% across 72 tracked suburbs. However, the market is bifurcating: affordable outer suburbs are accelerating while some premium coastal villages are cooling. Two new suburbs crossed the $1M median threshold this month. The unit market is sending highly mixed signals — extreme outliers on both upside and downside.

NEW $1M+ Suburbs (Flagged: "New")

Two suburbs crossed the $1M median house price threshold this month:

Suburb	House Price	YoY	MoM	Buyer Interest
Narara	$1,011,250	+6.5%	+1.4%	1,355
Noraville	$1,031,000	+20.9%	+5.7%	783

Key insight: Noraville is the standout — +20.9% YoY is remarkable for a suburb that has just joined the million-dollar club. With a unit price also rising +15.9% YoY, both markets are strengthening simultaneously. Narara's ascent is steadier but well-supported by strong buyer interest. Both are inner-western and northern fringe suburbs, signalling the affordable growth corridor is maturing.

➡ SOON Approaching $1M (Flagged: "Close")

Five suburbs are within striking distance of the $1M threshold:

Suburb	House Price	Gap to $1M	YoY	MoM	Buyers	Outlook
Wadalba	$982,500	$17,500	+10.4%	+0.3%	547	🟢 Strong momentum
Gosford	$980,000	$20,000	+1.0%	0.0%	161	🟡 Slow, low buyer interest
Warnervale	$975,000	$25,000	 -4.9% 	0.0%	328	🔴 Moving away from $1M
Niagara Park	$972,000	$28,000	+11.7%	-0.2%	981	🟢 Strong trajectory
Wyoming	$953,000	$47,000	+4.2%	-0.8%	2,044	🟢 High demand, closing gap

Key insights:

- Wadalba and Niagara Park are the most likely to cross $1M next — both have strong YoY growth and reasonable buyer depth
 - Wyoming has the highest buyer interest of any sub-$1M suburb (2,044!) — demand is clearly there; the price is just taking time to follow
 - Gosford (the LGA's namesake suburb) remains stubbornly below $1M with just 161 interested buyers — the city centre discount continues
 - Warnervale is actually moving backwards at -4.9% YoY — unlikely to cross $1M in near term

Suburbs with No Unit Data — Affordable Housing Opportunity

These suburbs have zero unit price data, suggesting an absence of established apartment/unit stock. They represent potential locations where Council could encourage medium-density/affordable housing development:

Suburb	House Price	$1M Flag	YoY	Rent (P/W)	Buyers
San Remo	$807,000	N	+8.3%	$565	700
Woongarra	$1,030,000	Y	+8.4%	$800	809
Koolewong	$1,135,000	Y	+18.2%	$700	432
Bensville	$1,320,000	Y	+8.2%	$800	697
Killcare Heights	$1,762,500	Y	-23.5%	$1,200	390
Pretty Beach	$1,900,000	Y	+27.7%	$875	148

Key insight — affordable housing focus: San Remo ($807k houses, no units, +8.3% growth, 700 buyers) is the most policy-relevant suburb here. It is the only sub-$1M suburb in this group, has reasonable buyer demand, and sits within a growth corridor. If Council wants to encourage affordable medium-density housing, San Remo is the prime candidate. Woongarra is also relevant as a newer residential growth area without established unit stock.

(Note: Killcare Heights and Pretty Beach have no unit data but are luxury-tier — less relevant to affordable housing policy.)

Biggest YoY Movers — Houses

Top Gainers

Suburb	YoY	House Price	Note
Wyee	+28.7%	$1,100,000	Outer northern — strong growth from low base

Holgate	+28.6%	$2,650,000	Luxury rural; likely small sample
Pretty Beach	+27.7%	$1,900,000	Small coastal enclave; volatile
Noraville	+20.9%	$1,031,000	★ New $1M suburb — genuine growth story
Pearl Beach	+20.6%	$1,950,000	Premium coastal recovery
Koolewong	+18.2%	$1,135,000	Waterfront; rapid appreciation
Wamberal	+17.4%	$1,820,000	Strong luxury demand, 2,312 buyers
Empire Bay	+16.0%	$1,285,000	Peninsular suburb gaining traction
Woy Woy	+15.0%	$1,121,000	Established suburb with train link

Top Losers

Suburb	YoY	House Price	Note
Erina Heights	-27.6%	$1,582,500	⚠ See divergence section — data anomaly likely
Killcare Heights	-23.5%	$1,762,500	Small market, high volatility
West Gosford	-22.2%	$861,500	⚠ Significant decline — worth watching
North Avoca	-10.3%	$1,615,000	Premium beachside cooling
Wagstaffe	-8.5%	$2,013,000	Luxury peninsula declining
Matcham	-8.4%	$2,520,000	Rural luxury softening
Point Frederick	-6.9%	$2,025,000	Prestige waterfront cooling
Copacabana	-6.7%	$1,618,000	Coastal mid-tier under pressure

Pattern: The luxury tier ($2M+) is cooling across the board. The growth story is in the outer suburban / northern corridor (Wyee, Noraville, Gorokan, Toukley).

Biggest YoY Movers — Units

Extreme Outliers (likely data artefacts)

Suburb	Unit YoY	Unit Price	Note
Erina Heights	+514.3%	$4,300,000	Statistically impossible for market-wide shift — likely one-off luxury sale skewing median
Macmasters Beach	+78.8%	$1,600,000	Small market; likely thin sample
Copacabana	+71.6%	$1,600,000	Worth flagging — but small market
Matcham	+37.7%	$4,000,000	Rural lifestyle prestige; few transactions

Note: Erina Heights unit YoY of +514% almost certainly reflects a median calculation based on very few transactions (possibly 1–2 sales). It should not be included in any comparative analysis without a transaction count caveat.

Genuine Strong Unit Growth

Suburb	Unit YoY	Unit Price	House YoY
Point Clare	+43.1%	$930,000	+13.8%
Blue Bay	+36.7%	$1,370,000	-4.4%
Tuggerah	+31.9%	$745,000	-0.9%
Norah Head	+31.5%	$1,170,000	+12.4%
Wyongah	+30.0%	$780,000	+11.9%
Wadalba	+22.0%	$750,000	+10.4%

Top Unit Losers (genuine concern)

Suburb	Unit YoY	Unit Price	Note
Forresters Beach	-65.0%	$455,000	Large unit market decline; houses up +14.1%
Warnervale	-51.7%	$275,500	Both house and unit declining
Davistown	-40.0%	$680,000	Significant unit correction
Buff Point	-30.2%	$380,000	Units under significant pressure
Killcare	-24.4%	$775,000	Coastal luxury units falling

Month-on-Month Highlights

House MoM

- Pretty Beach +23.4% — extreme single-month spike; small sample, likely 1–2 sales
- Noraville +5.7% — genuine monthly momentum for a newly minted $1M suburb
- Canton Beach +4.0% and Lisarow +3.8% — steady positive momentum
- Erina Heights -23.7% and Blue Bay -12.5% — steep single-month corrections

Unit MoM

- Wyee +23.8% and Norah Head +21.1% — significant unit price spikes MoM
- Saratoga +13.2% and Tuggerah +8.8% — strong unit momentum continuing from YoY trend

Notable House vs. Unit Divergences

Where house and unit markets are moving in opposite directions — useful for identifying suburb-level structural shifts:

Suburb	House YoY	Unit YoY	Gap	Interpretation
Forresters Beach	+14.1%	-65.0%	-79pp	Houses booming, units collapsing — unit oversupply or condition issues?
Copacabana	-6.7%	+71.6%	+78pp	Units outperforming strongly as house market cools
Macmasters Beach	-0.9%	+78.8%	+80pp	House flat, unit surge (thin market caveat)
Blue Bay	-4.4%	+36.7%	+41pp	Investors shifting to units as houses cool
Davistown	+6.8%	-40.0%	-47pp	Houses fine, units in serious correction
Holgate	+28.6%	-27.1%	-56pp	Luxury houses rising, luxury units falling sharply
Tuggerah	-0.9%	+31.9%	+33pp	Buyers choosing units over houses in this suburb

Buyer Interest Analysis

Hot Markets (high buyer interest)

Suburb	Buyers	Price	Growth Story
Terrigal	2,906	$1,629,000	Premium coastal — most in-demand suburb
Wamberal	2,312	$1,820,000	Luxury northern beaches, +17.4% YoY
Umina Beach	2,249	$1,260,000	Peninsula favourite, +8.9% YoY
Bateau Bay	2,194	$1,216,000	Strong family suburb demand
Wyoming	2,044	$953,000	Sub-$1M with extraordinary buyer interest

Wyoming stands out — 2,044 interested buyers for a sub-$1M suburb is exceptional and suggests strong price pressure building. This could be the next to cross $1M after Wadalba/Niagara Park.

Cold Markets (low buyer interest)

Suburb	Buyers	Price	Note
Magenta	125	$1,750,000	Gated estate; very niche market
Erina Heights	141	$1,582,500	Low interest + big price drop — concerns warranted
Pretty Beach	148	$1,900,000	Exclusive but illiquid
Gosford	161	$980,000	⚠️ City centre discount persists — nearly $1M median but lowest buyer interest of any affordable suburb

Synthesis: Key Insights

1. Two Suburbs Join the Million-Dollar Club

Narara and Noraville have both crossed $1M for the first time. Noraville's +20.9% annual growth is the most significant milestone — it sits in a corridor (Lake Munmorah / Norah Head precinct) that was traditionally considered affordable Central Coast.

2. The Gosford Paradox

Gosford CBD — the LGA's own centre — remains stubbornly below $1M at $980,000, with the lowest buyer interest (161) of any near-$1M suburb. This reflects the long-running challenge of urban renewal in the City Centre.

3. Northern Corridor Emerging as Growth Engine

Suburbs like Gorokan (+14.2%), Toukley (+11.7%), Noraville (+20.9%), Wyee (+28.7%), and Charmhaven (+11.6%) are all posting strong growth. This northern Lake Munmorah corridor is emerging as the Coast's new growth frontier — prices are still sub-$1M or just over, buyer demand is active.

4. Luxury Market Cooling

Matcham (-8.4%), Wagstaffe (-8.5%), Point Frederick (-6.9%), and North Avoca (-10.3%) are all declining. The top-end market (>$2M) is uniformly soft.

5. Affordable Housing Gap — San Remo

Of the 6 suburbs with no unit price data, San Remo ($807k, growing +8.3%, 700 buyers, no units) is the most relevant to affordable housing policy. A suburb in an active growth corridor with no established unit market is a potential development opportunity Council could note.

6. Unit Market Volatility

The unit market is sending contradictory signals — extreme gainers (Erina Heights 514%, Tuggerah +32%, Norah Head +31%) alongside severe losers (Forresters Beach -65%, Warnervale -52%, Davistown -40%). Many of these are thin markets where one or two transactions can move the median significantly. Council communications should note this caveat.

7. Wyoming — Watch List

Wyoming ($953,000) has 2,044 interested buyers — more than most $1.5M+ suburbs. At +4.2% annual growth this is building price pressure; Wyoming is a plausible next new-entrant to the $1M+ club within 12 months.

Data Notes / Caveats

- Unit price YoY figures for small suburbs (Erina Heights 514%, Macmasters Beach 79%, Copacabana 72%) almost certainly reflect thin transaction volumes and should be treated with caution
 - "Pretty Beach +23.4% MoM" and "Erina Heights -23.7% MoM" are likely single-sale medians
 - "No unit data" means no current unit median is reported — this may reflect genuine absence of unit stock OR insufficient sales data for a median calculation
